

New milestone for the new year

Monaco March 29th, 2021 – Boutsen Aviation has had an active Q1, as it kicks off the first three months of what is the company's 24th Anniversary, with several sales while managing the impact of the current crisis on the business aviation market.

Early in the year, Sales Director for Northern Europe James Hughes sent off a Citation Latitude to its new owner and the company closed deals on Cessna Citation M2 & Pilatus PC-12NG. This was followed by the sale of a stunning Gulfstream G650 now ready to spread its wings and fly high, reaching the milestone of Boutsen Aviation's 390th sale.

This sale is also one to highlight as it was an aircraft introduced on the market and sold by Sales Director for Switzerland & Eastern Europe Jean-Louis Cehovic.

/ PRESS RELEASE...

Indeed, Mr. Cehovic joined the Boutsen Aviation team one year ago to further strengthen the company's global reach. He tackled 2020 with the addition of an ultra-high-speed business jet to the listing that found a new home six months later. "I am honored to have started our cooperation with such a fruitful transaction" remarks Mr. Cehovic. "Widely regarded as one of the most comfortable and high-speed business jets in its class, the G650 is truly a one-of-a-kind aircraft."

Since the end of 2020, the Gulfstream G650 market stayed incredibly active and the company is proud to be at its forefront. "This sale marks the 24th Gulfstream sold by Boutsen Aviation" comments President Dominique Trinquet following the closing of the G650, "Gulfstream & Falcons are definitely two of our bestsellers and we are glad to notice that the market for heavy jets is currently picking up."

"It is essential to maintain the smooth running of our transactions no matter what" concludes Founder & Chairman Thierry Boutsen. "We hope that such a good start of 2021 will pave the way to a lot of aircraft clearing for takeoff..."
